

Texas Board of Nursing Bulletin

The mission of the Board of Nurse Examiners for the State of Texas is to protect and promote the welfare of the people of Texas by ensuring that each person holding a license as a nurse in the State of Texas is competent to practice safely. The Board fulfills its mission through the regulation of the practice of nursing and the approval of nursing education programs. This mission, derived from the Nursing Practice Act, supersedes the interest of any individual, the nursing profession, or any special interest group.

BNE Position Statements are Tools for Guiding Nursing Practice

What is the difference between the Nursing Practice Act (NPA), Board Rules, and Board Position Statements? Not sure? You are not alone.

Many nurses do not realize that the NPA and Board Rules are part of Texas Law, and are not just documents that exist on the BNE web page. The NPA exists in the Texas Occupations Code (TOC), and the Board Rules exist in 22 Texas Administrative Code (TAC). The sections of the TOC that make up the NPA are considered the "statutes" applicable to all licensed nurses in Texas. Chapter 301 of the Texas Occupations Code contains the law that creates the Board of Nurse Examiners and defines its responsibility for regulating nursing education, licensure and practice. Chapter 303 relates to Nursing Peer Review and Chapter 304 relates to the Nurse Licensure Compact. Changes to the NPA occur through the passage of bills in the Texas Legislature, currently in session, on a biennial basis. Board rules, on the other hand, may change at any time as deemed necessary by the Board to reflect current regulatory needs or in response to enacted legislation.

By necessity, both the NPA and Board rules are written broadly to apply to nursing practice in any setting. Some of the reasons why laws must be written broadly include:

- Nursing practice across all settings is a dynamic process. It frequently changes as advances in health care simplify treatments and promote better outcomes with evidence-based practice standards. Laws do not change quickly or often, so inclusion of prescriptive guidance in rule language could create unnecessary and inappropriate barriers to practice.
- Beyond basic educational preparation, what is within the scope of practice for one nurse may not be within the scope of practice for another nurse. Thus, it would be impossible for the Board to develop lists of "tasks" that a LVN, RN, or APN with authorization in a specific role and specialty could perform; this is a decision the individual nurse must make.
- The Board has no jurisdiction over employers, so we cannot dictate facility policies, job descriptions, staffing, etc. The BNE also has no jurisdiction over physician practices.

Staff nurses, nurse managers, and those whose jobs involve interactions with nurses frequently seek clarification from board staff on specific issues that may be difficult to discern from the NPA and Rules. This is where other Board documents enter the picture. Board position statements, interpretive guidelines, and disciplinary sanction policies do not have the force of law, but are a means of communicating the Board's regulatory approach to a particular topic as well as providing direction for nurses on issues of concern to the Board relevant to protection of the public. For example, a nurse considering performing tasks that are delegated medical acts could find it useful to review Position Statement 15.11 relating to Delegated Medical Acts.

Board position statements are reviewed annually for relevance and accuracy to current practice. Other documents are revised as needed. With the combining of the nursing boards into a single Board of Nursing in February 2004, staff efforts were immediately focused on revising and combining rule language to address licensed nurses at all levels (LVN and RN license, and APN authorization in a specific role/specialty). Subsequently, revisions and additions/deletions to the current position statements were implemented following the January 2005 Board meeting.

Verification of Current Nurse Licensure is a Prerequisite for Employment

Nurse managers juggle many responsibilities including supervising nurses, ensuring adequate staffing and quality care, and verifying clinical competence of nursing personnel. The nurse manager must also assure compliance with regulations at local, state and federal levels. The first responsibility for nurse managers supervising other nurses should be to make certain that staff being considered for employment or those who are employed are currently licensed to practice nursing in the State of Texas. This responsibility is described in the Board of Nurse Examiners' Rules and Regulations under Rule 217.11, Standards of Nursing Practice, which states that nurses shall "ensure the verification of current Texas licensure or other Compact State licensure

Nurses shall "ensure the verification of current Texas licensure or other Compact State licensure privilege and credentials of personnel for whom the nurse is administratively responsible, when acting in the role of nurse administrator." Rule 217.11 (1) (V) Standards of Nursing Practice privilege and credentials of personnel for whom the nurse is administratively responsible, when acting in the role of nurse administrator."

On pages 7-8 of this issue of the Bulletin, you will find information on eight nurse imposters who attempted to work or worked illegally as nurses in Texas. Some of these individuals attempted to work as nurses after their licenses were revoked or suspending. Others never attended nursing school or did not graduate.

Verification of current nurse licensure in Texas has never been easier. The Board of Nurse Examiners has an online verification link available 24 hours a day to verify licensure status (<https://www.bne.state.tx.us/olv/olverif.htm>). The online verification system also allows for printing of licensure verification for employment records. The BNE's automated phone system [(512) 305-7400] can also verify nurse licensure 24 hours a day. During business hours, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., verification of licensure can be accomplished by contacting the BNE's Customer Support Group at (512) 305-6809. There is no state requirement that the license be verified by a staff person in the Board office. Online verification is equally effective and more quickly accomplished.

In evaluating the licensure status of a nurse, attention should be paid to the expiration date of the license, any disciplinary action on the license or privilege, and Compact license or privilege status. Assurance of current licensure is a critical component of providing safe, competent nursing care.

Summary of Actions

A Regular meeting of the Board of Nurse Examiners was held January 20-21, 2005 in Austin. The following is a summary of Board actions taken during this meeting.

The following proposed rule changes were published in the February 11, 2005 issue of the Texas Register (30 TexReg 631).

The Board of Nurse Examiners (BNE) adopted amendments without changes to 22 Texas Administrative Code §§216.1 - 216.3 and §216.5, concerning Continuing Education. The adoption of these amendments will consolidate the Continuing Education (CE) rules applicable to all nurses into one section and will complete the consolidation of the rules for the former Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners and Board of Nurse Examiners. Concurrent with these amendments was the repeal of chapter 237, including §237.1 and §§237.11 - 237.23.

The BNE adopted amendments to 22 Texas Administrative Code §217.1 and §217.4, concerning Licensure, Peer Assistance and Practice. Section 217.1 addresses "Definitions" and §217.4 is entitled "Requirements for Initial Licensure by Examination for Nurses Who Graduate from Nursing Education Programs Outside of United States' Jurisdiction." The adopted amendment to §217.1 includes the definition of "credentialing evaluation services (CES)" and deletes the definition of the Commission on Graduates of Foreign Nursing Schools (CGFNS). Section 217.4 broadens the acceptable verification organizations and availability of organizations that can provide credential evaluation services (CES) of foreign-educated nurses. As a result, the time period in obtaining the necessary information requested from the credentialing organizations may be shorter and may provide equal and some enhanced services. By requiring credentials from these organizations, the CGFNS certification program requirement would become unnecessary and, therefore, eliminated.

The BNE adopted without changes amendments to 22 Texas Administrative Code §220.2 (Issuance of a License by a Compact Party State), concerning Nurse Licensure Compact. Texas joined the Nurse Licensure Compact on January 1, 2000. This compact allows nurses licensed in Texas to practice in member states without having to apply for each member state's individual license. This adopted amendment will implement the standard passed by the Nurse Licensure Compact Administrators (NLCA) requiring all nurse applicants for initial licensure in a compact home state to have passed the NCLEX or its predecessor examination in order to obtain a multistate privilege.

No comments were received in response to these proposed rule changes and these rule changes became effective April 11, 2005.

The BNE proposed amendments to 22 TAC §221.2 and §221.7, addressing Advanced Practice Nurses. Section 301.152 of the Nursing Practice Act states that advanced practice nurses are granted authorization to practice and utilize titles based upon their educational preparation. Advanced practice nurses who are authorized by the board in either the nurse practitioner or clinical nurse specialist role are also recognized in a particular specialty area appropriate to their educational preparation and must limit their advanced nursing practice to the role and specialty for which they have been educated. Comments were received to the proposed rule changes. The Board will consider comments received to the proposed rule changes at the regularly scheduled meeting of the Board on April 21-22.

The adopted rule changes listed above may be viewed at www.sos.state.tx.us, in the offices of the Board of Nurse Examiners, or in the Texas Register Office, Room 245, James Earl Rudder Building, 1019 Brazos Street, Austin, Texas.

The BNE Position Statements are numbered consecutively from 15.1-15.24, including five new position statements adopted by the Board at the January 2005 Board Meeting. The five new position statements include:

#	Position Statement Title	Synopsis
15.3	LVNs Engaging in IV Therapy, Venipuncture, or PICC Lines	LVN must complete post-licensure training to engage in IV Therapy/Venipuncture (not typically included in LVN curriculum). Insertion of PICC lines is beyond the scope of practice for LVN.
15.6	Board Rules Associated with Alleged Patient Abandonment	The BNE does not define “abandonment.” Differentiates employment versus licensure issues, addresses board rule considerations relative to disciplinary action by BNE.
15.10	Continuing Education: Limitations for Expanding Scope of Practice	Clarifies that expansion of an individual nurse’s scope of practice has licensure-related limitations. Informal continuing education or on-the-job training cannot be substituted for formal education leading to the next level of practice/licensure or authorization.
15.14	Duty of the LVN and/or RN in Any Practice Setting	Establishes, through the NPA and Board Rules, that a nurse has a responsibility and duty to a client/patient to provide and coordinate the delivery of safe, effective nursing care. This duty supercedes any facility policy or physician order.
15.24	Nurses Engaging In Reinsertion of Permanently Placed Feeding Tubes	LVNs & RNs should demonstrate competency in reinsertion of a permanently placed feeding tube. Verification of correct re-placement is essential to prevent life-threatening complications.

The position statements may be viewed and downloaded in their entirety from the BNE web page at <http://www.bne.state.tx.us> under “Nursing Practice Information/Position Statements.” Interpretive Guidelines and Disciplinary Sanction Policies, though not discussed in this article, also offer valuable information on specific topics and may be viewed on the web page.

Practice Question and Answer

Charge Nurse Concerns for Patient Safety and an Overworked Staff Nurse

I work in an adult ICU in a small community hospital. We care for a variety of medical and surgical ICU patients, as well as high-risk labor & delivery patients (ante- and post-partum), as our small L&D unit does not handle monitors or invasive lines. We normally will have 3-4 staff members per shift, with a 1:1 - 1:2 nurse:patient ratio. I am the Charge RN on my shift.

One of my co-workers that I work with on a regular basis has taken a prn job. I do not have a problem with her having another job because most of the nurses in my department have a part-time job (including myself) since our hours have been cut back to 32 hours per week. My problem lies with her combination of work schedules. Her prn position is an OB position at another small community hospital in the next town, where she is strictly "on call." Only when there is a patient that needs to be put on the monitor or is in labor is she called in; however, when it rains—it pours—and the unit could be busy 24/7 for 2-3 days in a row.

I am aware of her prn schedule because I work through an agency and happened to be the charge nurse on her first night there a few weeks ago. I also fill in 2-3 days/month with the same agency for their OB department. Her work schedule for one week was as follows: She started the week by working two twelve-hour shifts with three 12-hour on-call shifts before and/or between the two twelve-hour "worked" shifts; this was followed by a 24-hour on-call preceding another 12-hour worked shift, which was again followed by a 24-hour on-call shift. All together, this nurse was potentially scheduled to work for six straight 24-hour days without "sleep" time!

My concern lies in that she potentially could be leaving one job and going to another for days on end. ICU (especially our high-risk pregnancy patients) is a high-risk area. We have all seen cases where the difference between life and death was the nurse being "on-top" of subtle changes in a patient's condition and calling the physician in time to intervene. When we help deliver babies for high-risk moms, the nurse's charting will follow the nurse for 21 years! Being charge nurse, if litigation occurred because of her, I fear I could also be held accountable.

I asked my nurse manager what I should do if I feel this nurse is not safe to work. He says that unless she fails to do her job here (absenteeism, tardiness, sleeping at work, or patient-care related errors being made), there was nothing that I could do. He says we cannot dictate what this nurse does on her time away from our hospital. I worked very hard for my license and do not want to lose it over someone else's mistakes or lack of concern for patient safety.

A: The BNE has no jurisdiction over facilities or employers, so I cannot speak to facility policies or to civil liability issues. All nurses are accountable to know and comply with the Nursing Practice Act (NPA) and Rules. The rule most often applied to nursing practice is rule 217.11, Standards of Nursing Practice. Standard (1)(B) requires the nurse to maintain a safe environment for clients, and (1)(T) mandates that each nurse accept only those assignments that are within the educational preparation, knowledge, skills, competency, and physical and emotional ability of the individual nurse. As the charge nurse making assignments to this individual (for both employers), you may want to use the opportunity to remind this nurse about the responsibility each of you has under the Rules (i.e., 217.11). You may also wish to look at rule 217.12, Unprofessional Conduct, and in particular, 217.12(4), Careless or repetitive conduct that may endanger a client's life, health, or safety. Actual injury to a client need not be established. Additionally, I am aware that more research is being done on how long shifts may contribute to nursing errors, such as the Institute of Medicine's 2003 report "Keeping Patients Safe: Transforming the Work Environment of Nurses" which speaks to increased error rates when nurses work more than 12 hour shifts. An address to access information on this article is: <http://www4.nationalacademies.org/news.nsf/isbn/0309090679?OpenDocument>.

You can encourage this nurse to realize that should she commit a nursing error and be reported to the board, the fact that she is repeatedly placing herself in a position to work 24+ hours around the clock endangers both patients and the nurse. What she is doing goes beyond working two or more jobs. You may want to consider asking this nurse at the beginning of a shift how may

Revisions to Advanced Practice Title Rules to be Considered at April Board Meeting

At its July 2004 meeting, the Board voted to propose amendments to Rules 221.2 and 221.7, relating to advanced practice titles. In response, the board office received many written comments on this issue and also held a public hearing regarding the proposed rules. During the public hearing, the Texas Nurses Association (TNA) requested a six month moratorium on action related to this rule amendment to allow time for the issue related to titles to be addressed at the national level. The Board agreed to grant the moratorium.

During the six-month period, the Board withdrew the rule proposed in August 2004 in order to be in compliance with requirements imposed by the Texas Register. At the same time, the Board re-proposed new language that would amend Rules 221.2 and 221.7 in February 2005. The amended rule language proposed in February 2005 does not change the titles previously proposed for continued recognition. It does, however, contain other substantive changes as recommended by the comments received previously, including a list of the titles that may be recognized via an exemption. It is important to note that although this issue has been discussed by stakeholders at the national level during this six month period, no consensus has been reached as of the writing of this update. Staff anticipate the Board will consider final action related to the rule at its April 2005 meeting.

APN Advisory Committee Update

The Advanced Practice Nursing Advisory Committee met in Austin on March 4, 2005 to continue working on their current charges from the Board. They discussed the proposed amendments to Rules 221.2 and 221.7 (published in the February 11, 2005 edition of the Texas Register) that seek to limit the number of advanced practice titles the Board recognizes. The committee continued discussion of issues related to the advanced practice nurse's scope of practice and expansion of that scope of practice. The committee is scheduled to meet again in May 2005.

on-call hours she worked when you know she is doing back-to-back shift scheduling. As her charge nurse, you need to know her physical condition and mental acuity in order to accurately make safe patient assignments [217.11(1)(S)]. If you ever believe in "good faith" that she is not fit to practice on a given shift (for example, you know she worked 12 hrs yesterday, and was then called in on-call within two hours and worked an additional 10 hours, coming straight back to work at facility #1 after leaving facility #2 for yet another 12-hr shift), you will have a duty to ensure client safety [217.11(1)(B)] which may mean refusing to allow her to give direct patient care that shift, or possibly not permitting her to work at all. Should your employer try to "force" you to make a patient assignment to her when you have reason to believe her practice may be impaired, you could consider invoking Safe Harbor. It might be interesting to see what a peer review committee would say about the judgment of this nurse in scheduling herself between jobs without regard for personal or patient safety.

I'm sure this nurse has her reasons for trying to make extra money; however, if she doesn't make better choices in balancing her personal needs with her profession, she may create even larger problems for herself---possibly at the cost of a patient's life---in the long run. Should this nurse be reported to the board and it results in action on the nurse's license, she could be restricted for at least one year from working for multiple employers, and may be restricted from working extra shifts even for one employer. Better for her to use good judgment and place realistic limits on herself before it is done for her.

IMPOSTER WARNING

If you have any knowledge or information regarding the employment practices of the following individual(s), please contact the Board's Enforcement Division immediately, at (512) 305-6838.

Christina Pebleano Armstrong, aka Tina Marie Armstrong

Christina Pebleano Armstrong, aka Tina Marie Armstrong, secured employment as a registered nurse with a geriatric psychiatric facility in Houston, Texas. Ms. Armstrong worked at the facility from April 23, 2003, through June 1, 2004. Ms. Armstrong's behavior became suspicious and erratic. When she provided her renewed license the staff attempted to verify. Upon verification of Ms. Armstrong's license, staff found that the license number belonged to someone else. The supervisor asked her to give an explanation about the forged license, but she refused to do so. Ms. Armstrong was terminated from employment, and the case was referred to the Board office. On December 1, 2004, Ms. Armstrong then attempted to obtain employment as a registered nurse with a doctor's office in Dallas, Texas. Before Ms. Armstrong was officially hired, the office staff verified the license number provided and found it belonged to someone else. Ms. Armstrong was not hired. The case was referred to the Harris County District Attorney's Office, Houston, Texas.

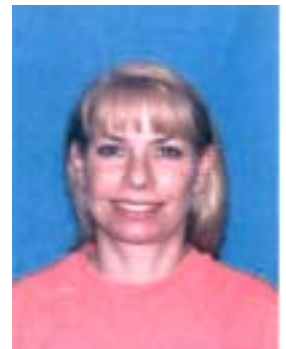

Tommy Carter

On April 1, 2004, Tommy Carter attempted to obtain employment as a licensed vocational nurse with a long term care facility in Houston, Texas. Mr. Carter presented an altered photo copy of a wallet sized license and stated his original license had been stolen from his car. He also stated his driver's license and social security card were taken at the same time. When the facility tried to verify the license number provided, it belonged to another licensee and no verification was found with Mr. Carter's social security number. Mr. Carter was called by the facility to come back and talk about the identification information he provided, but he never returned their call. The case was referred to the Harris County District Attorney's Office, Houston, Texas.

Cheryl Jeanne Chin

Cheryl Jeanne Chin secured employment as a registered nurse with a physician's office in Houston, Texas. Ms. Chin worked as a registered nurse from March 15, 2004, through April 2, 2004. The Human Resources Manager attempted to verify Ms. Chin's license and found that she was not licensed to practice professional nursing in the State of Texas. The manager contacted Ms. Chin and informed her that she could not return to work until she brought in her license. On April 6, 2004, Ms. Chin telephoned the physician's office and informed them that she would not be returning to work because she found another position. The case was referred to the Harris County District Attorney's Office, Houston, Texas.

Teresa Michelle Elmore

Teresa Michelle Elmore was issued a temporary permit to practice as a graduate vocational nurse in the State of Texas which expired on November 6, 2003. Ms. Elmore took and failed the licensing examination on two occasions. Ms. Elmore secured employment as a licensed vocational nurse (LVN) with a hospital in Kerrville, Texas, and practiced as an LVN from November 7, 2003, through March 23, 2004. During her employment with the facility, Ms. Elmore had three (3) minor medication errors. Ms. Elmore's personnel file was reviewed and staff discovered that they did not have current licensure information. The facility contacted Ms. Elmore to question her on her LVN license and she admitted that she did not pass boards, effective October 14, 2003. The case was referred to the Kerr County District Attorney's Office, Kerrville, Texas.

Rahel Fikremariam Gebrewold

Ms. Gebrewold secured employment as a licensed vocational nurse in a long term care facility in Plano, Texas. Ms. Gebrewold worked at the facility from July 17, 2003, through March 13, 2004. In March 2004, the Director of Nursing started noticing unusual nursing practice from Ms. Gebrewold. Ms. Gebrewold was performing her duties as though she was “green” to the nursing profession. The Director of Nursing pulled Ms. Gebrewold’s personnel file to see what school Ms. Gebrewold had attended but could find no record of a school. She then attempted to verify Ms. Gebrewold’s nursing license and found there was no record of Ms. Gebrewold being licensed in the State of Texas. Ms. Gebrewold’s employment was terminated, and the information was referred to the Plano Police Department.

Shirley Ann Harris

Shirley Ann Harris’ license to practice professional nursing was revoked by the Board of Nurse Examiners on May 13, 2003. Ms. Harris continued to work as a registered nurse without a valid license, from May 13, 2003, through September 10, 2004. Ms. Harris had been employed with a long term care facility in Marshall, Texas, since January, 2000. On September 10, 2004, the facility discovered that Ms. Harris’ license had been revoked on May 13, 2003. The facility immediately terminated Ms. Harris and reported the information to the Board. The case was referred to the Harrison County Attorney’s Office, Marshall, Texas.

Shanta B. Patel, a.k.a. Shantaben Patel

Shanta B. Patel secured employment as a registered nurse with a school district in Harris County, Texas, in November 1992. On October 4, 2004, the employer attempted to verify licensure after they noted several discrepancies on the copy of the license that Ms. Patel presented. The employer contacted the Board office and found that the license belonged to another individual. Ms. Patel was terminated from employment on November 17, 2004. The case was referred to the Harris County District Attorney’s Office, Houston, Texas. On January 13, 2005, Ms. Patel was arrested and indicted for Tampering with a Government Record, a felony offense.

Beverly Markeata Willis

Beverly Markeata Willis was issued a temporary permit to practice as a graduate vocational nurse in the State of Texas, which expired on November 15, 2001. Ms. Willis took and failed the licensing examination on January 8, 2002. Ms. Willis continued to practice as a graduate vocational nurse from November 16, 2001, through December 5, 2001 at a hospital in Pasadena, Texas. In December 2001, Ms Willis presented a wallet sized license to practice vocational nursing in the State of Texas. Ms. Willis practiced as a LVN from December 6, 2001, through January 16, 2004 at the hospital in Pasadena, Texas. The staff attempted to verify the license which had an expiration date of January 31, 2004 and found that it belonged to another licensee. Ms. Willis was immediately contacted by phone; however, she did not return the employer’s phone calls and did not return to work. The case was referred to the Harris County District Attorney’s Office, Houston, Texas.
